QUICK TIPS FOR SUCCESS

We want to see you succeed! So, we've put together this list of quick tips to help you navigate the application process. Once the application window has closed, our grants committee will convene to review the submissions, deliberate, and ultimately recommend award recipients to the board for a vote. Please work through your application with the following tips in mind in order for our reviewers to best understand your organization and program goals.

Quick Tip #1 – Ask Questions: For many organizations, the grant application process is new and can be overwhelming. Please don't hesitate to reach out to us if you have a question along the way, either by phone (614-226-3068) or email (grants@ohioanimalfoundation.org).

Quick Tip #2 – Board Diversity: Be sure to include a list of board members (one of the attachments required in #4) with brief descriptions of the professional background or unique experience each individual brings to the table with regard to your work and overall mission.

Quick Tip #3 – Fiscal/Budget: This is a very important part of the application. Including a project AND organizational budget is required for your organization to be considered for funding. You should also include any additional fiscal policies or budgetary controls that your organization may have. Grant reviewers love to see evidence of strong internal fiscal/budgetary controls (i.e., segregation of duties with respect to the planning and handling of funds in an organization).

Quick Tip #4 – Education & Outreach: The sharing of information to promote the health and well-being of animals is a core element of the OAF mission. If your project has an educational component be sure to mention it! For some projects, this is obvious (e.g., wildlife educational classes for kids at a nature center). However, the educational component certainly is not limited to projects involving classes or training courses. Educational opportunities present themselves in a variety of environments and interactions. Be sure to consider the possible ways in which your project will contribute to learning, whether in the near or long-term.

Quick Tip #5 – Collaboration: As Helen Keller so wisely put it, "Alone we can do so little; together we can do so much." Are you working with other nonprofits, community groups, public/private agencies to facilitate your goals? Or do you have plans to do so during the implementation of this project? Be sure to mention this!

Quick Tip #6 – Research & Data: How are you using research and data to set and measure your goals? Is there a particular metric within your community that you aim to tackle? A brief discussion on data-driven programming is a great way to underscore the foundation of your stated need.
